RE: Angular Momentum Reaction Engine-master

Dear corvin dhali:

Because this work does not meet the deposit requirements for a computer program and the material deposited represents less than the required minimum amount of original authorship for a claim in text, therefore registration must be refused.

The copyright statute defines a computer program as “a set of statements or instructions to be used directly or indirectly in a computer to bring about a certain result.” Our regulations indicate that the deposit requirement for registering a computer program is the first and last 25 pages of source code of each program. In these cases the registration is assumed to cover any images created by the instructions in the source code.

In any case in which the Register of Copyrights determines that, in accordance with the provisions of title 17, the material deposited does not constitute copyrightable subject matter or that the claim is invalid for any other reason, the Copyright Office shall refuse registration.

We have requested multiple times for you to upload the first and last pages of source code, but have not received the correct deposit. Since the material submitted does not meet the deposit requirements and does not contain the minimum amount of authorship required for registration, we must refuse registration. In accordance with our practices, we are closing our file without action and retaining the non-refundable filing fee.

This letter is for your information only; no response is necessary.

Sincerely,
